Indicated Total Equity Value	40,750.00	87,400.52	85,484.87	96,318.91	10,834

Estimated enterprise value increased from the prior period due to the increase in trading multiples of the selected public companies and upward revision to FY 2020 forecasted revenue in the current period. Additionally, total common value has increased at a higher rate in the current period due to both the increase in enterprise value and inclusion of excess cash given the ample liquidity of the company.

Commentary:

- While LTM June 2020 revenue has increased, LTM EBITDA decreased from the prior period as the company has less deferred revenue in the current period as a result of COVID-19 on the company's operations. Despite the uncertainties of the pandemic, the company maintains a strong backlog and a positive outlook going forward as reflected in the increase in revenues for FY2020 per the revised forecast.
- Lincoln valued Mersive based on revenue multiples given the industry it operates in and recurring nature of the revenue streams.
- Mersive continues to outperform underwriting expectations on both a revenue and EBITDA basis despite the difficulties and uncertainties associated with COVID-19. Lincoln included the change in deferred revenue as an adjustment to EBITDA to reflect the company's cash EBITDA.
- Revenue multiples of the selected public companies increased slightly from the prior period on both an LTM and NCY basis given the positive industry trends and healthy outlook of software businesses holistically. As a result, Lincoln increased both the LTM and NCY revenue multiples under the Selected Public Companies Analysis given the positive operating trends to date as well as the positive outlook as reflected in the revised forecast.
- Lincoln maintained its Discounted Cash Flow Analysis assumptions and discount rate from the prior period based upon the continued uncertainties associated with the pandemic as well as continued positive outlook of the business going forward.
- Lincoln removed the Precedent Transactions Analysis in the current period due to the lack of transactions being executed in the current period. Therefore, Lincoln weighted the analysis 50.0% on the Selected Public Companies analysis and 50.0% on the Discounted Cash Flow analysis.

Transaction Overview:

- On December 15, 2017, OpenGate Capital ("OGC") purchased Mersive for $44.3 million, or 3.0x 2017E revenue. The transaction was financed with $40.8 million of equity and a $3.5 million Revolver draw.

Recent Developments:

- As of the Valuation Date, management has seen an impact on its business as a result of COVID-19 in relation to some existing customers pushing out deals which has resulted in some pressure on earnings. However, the company has a variable cost structure, whereby they can cut costs effectively without having to reduce headcount or borrow on balance sheet cash. It is management's belief that while some deals have been delayed, these timelines are simply being pushed out to FY 2021 rather than being terminated altogether. The company has also recently signed some very large new customers and continues to see a strong backlog. Therefore, the revised forecast reflects revenue growth for FY 2020.

Footnotes:

(1) Lincoln included the minimum expected cash balance as forecasted through the remainder of FY 2020 based on the expectation that it has not historically, and will not be needed to fund operations given the company's adequate liquidity position.

(2) Initial enterprise value implied based on invested capital amounts as of the close of the initial acquisition. Subsequent enterprise valuations reflect Lincoln's estimates.

Commentary:

- Lincoln concluded valuation multiple ranges of 2.00x to 2.20x LTM Revenue and 2.00x to 2.20x NCY Revenue, an increase of 0.1x at the midpoint for both the LTM and NCY revenue multiple ranges.
- In concluding on its valuation multiple range, Lincoln considered the following:
 - Lincoln selected public companies in the application software industry who serve comparable end markets and experience similar supply and demand economics as Mersive. The selected companies provide a general proxy for market movements and represent industry multiples as a whole. Lincoln valued Mersive using revenue multiples given many industry participants reported negative EBITDA and recurring revenue serves as a good proxy given the recurring nature of the subscription revenue model. Additionally, the use of a revenue multiple negates the impact of the change in accounting policy and its effect on GAAP versus cash EBITDA.
 - Lincoln established its LTM revenue valuation range with consideration to OGC's initial acquisition of Mersive for 3.0x in December 2017. Given the increase in LTM revenue multiples of the selected public companies, Lincoln increased the selected EV / LTM revenue multiple range 0.1x at the midpoint from the prior period. The midpoint of the concluded range reflects a 68.0% discount to the Adjusted Mean EV / LTM revenue multiple of the selected public companies. Mersive's smaller size and lower projected revenue and EBITDA growth offer support for the discount.
 - Lincoln established its forward valuation range with consideration to the increase in the EV / NCY revenue multiples of the selected public companies from the prior period as well as management's upward revision to the FY 2020 revenue reforecast in the current period. The concluded EV / NCY revenue multiple range for Mersive increased from the prior period given the positive outlook of the business as reflected in the reforecast which takes into consideration the impact to date and expected continued impact from COVID-19. Therefore, Lincoln increased the concluded multiple range in line with the movement in trading multiples of the selected public companies in the current period.

Summary of Valuation Methodologies

Valuation Methodology and Key Assumptions

Overview

- Lincoln utilizes several methodologies to estimate the fair value of the Investments. Lincoln's fair value estimates are generally expressed as a range and are considered by the Client in its determination of a single estimate of fair value for each individual security.

Definition of Fair Value

- The valuations presented herein reflect the ASC-820-20 definition of "fair value" defined as "the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date."
- The valuation method for each Portfolio Company varies depending upon industry and company specific considerations. We generally perform a fundamental analysis to establish a risk profile for each company in addition to the application of one or more of the following: (i) market method; (ii) income method; and (iii) enterprise valuation waterfall method.

Fundamental Analysis

- A fundamental analysis of each Portfolio Company considers such factors as major developments affecting the business, financial outlook, industry dynamics, overall risk profile and other qualitative factors impacting valuation. These considerations are discussed throughout the Report.

Valuation Methodology and Key Assumptions

Market Method

- The market method values the enterprise value of each Portfolio Company based on the observable prices of similar companies. We consider comparable public companies and precedent M&A transactions for both public and private companies, if available. Lincoln also draws on its institutional knowledge of private middle-market M&A valuations.
- The Market Method involves the determination of representative levels of earnings or other operating metrics, such as operating income (EBIT) and earnings, before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (EBITDA). Normalizing adjustments may be made based upon the facts and circumstances such as add-backs to EBITDA for non-recurring items. Lincoln selects an appropriate range of market multiples based on analysis of comparable public companies and/or M&A transactions as of the measurement date. We then apply the selected market multiples to the Portfolio Company to determine its enterprise value.
- Because many of the Portfolio Companies are often smaller than larger, publicly-traded companies, the private company M&A metrics may be used.

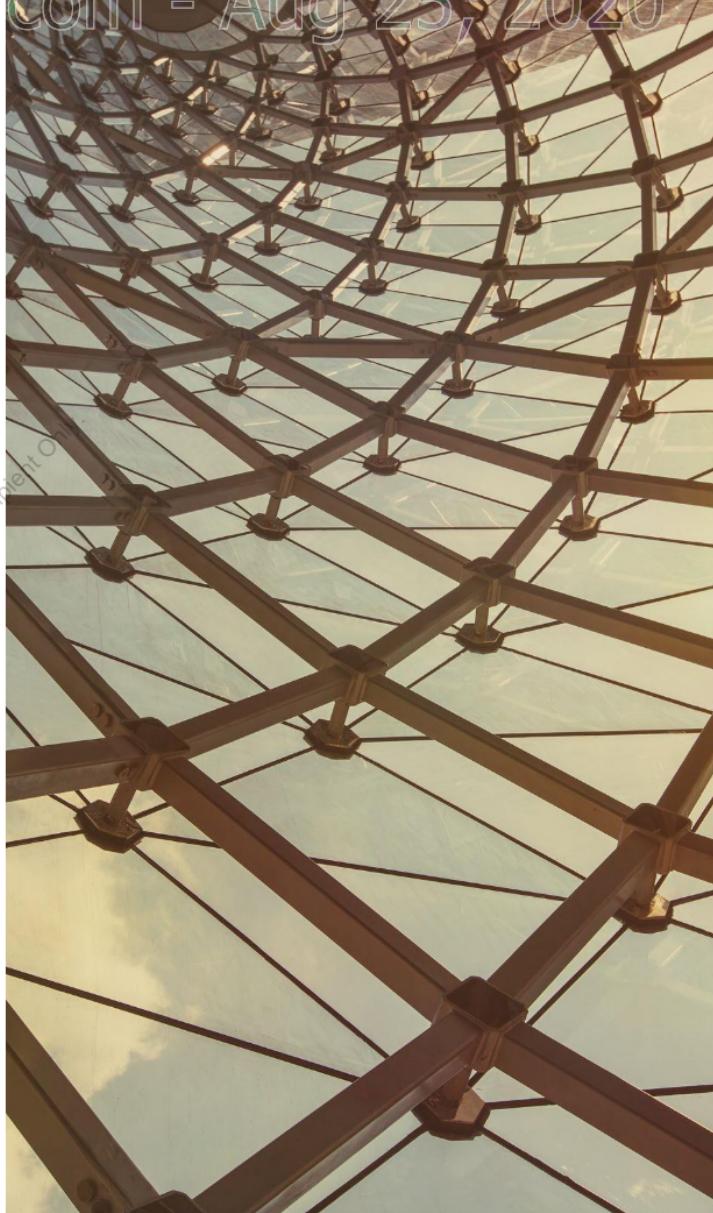

Income Method

- The discounted cash flow method (DCF) estimates the present value of the projected cash flows to be generated by the subject company. In the DCF approach, a discount rate is applied to the projected future cash flows to arrive at its present value. The discount rate is intended to reflect all risks of ownership and the associated risks of realizing the stream of projected cash flows.
- Generally, multi-year forecasts for the Portfolio Companies are not available and, as such, the Income Method is used infrequently as a primary method to determine enterprise value. Lincoln may, however, corroborate the reasonableness of its determined multiples derived under the Market Method using the Income Method, based on various estimates and assumptions.
- Lincoln may also utilize a leverage buy-out (LBO) analysis to determine the enterprise value based on a third-party investor's required rate of return over a typical hold period.
